Strong Don Eleven Faces Tiger Team

Salinas May Fill Bye Date

New Band, Drill Team Perform

Santa Ana Senior high school's band and girls' drill team will perform between the halves of tonight's Don-Bengal tilt, it was announced today by Director D. K. Hammond. The two units have received much praise at all of the high school football games.

Miss Margaret Glenn is director of the drill team, which has over 50 participants. The school band, numbering about 70, is in charge of Kenneth Heiges.

The drill squad and band, one of the largest to play at a Don grid game, will be co-featured along with the jaysee flashlight section.

Hope was expressed today by junior college officials that the band and drill team can be obtained for the Citrus game here Armistice night.

Bands have been the school's weak spot for several years, and it is believed that this will be remedied by the large high school aggregation.

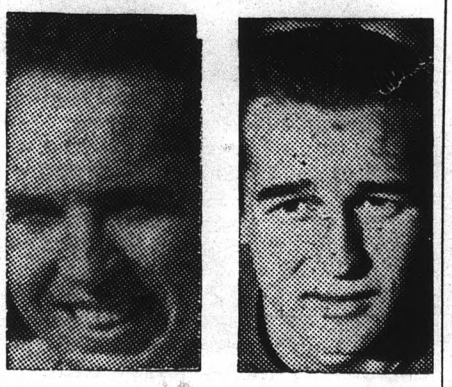

Dons Are Donated New Scoreboard

When the first score is made in the Riverside-Don football game at the Municipal bowl tonight, the tally will be recorded by the new electrical scoreboard donated and erected by the Santa Ana 20-30 club.

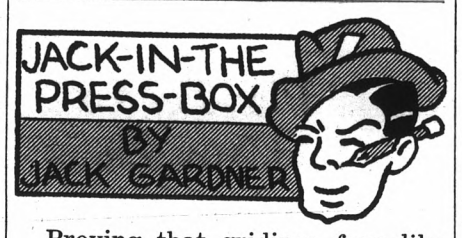

Controlled by a timekeeper on the sidelines, the illuminated scoreboard will tell the score, who is in possession of the ball, the number of minutes left in the quarter, the downs, and the yards needed for a first down.

With the finishing touches added, the new scoreboard will be one of the most modern and most complete in Southern California, according to 20-30 club officials.

TIGER CAPTAINS

BOB HOLMES AND LLOYD LEEST, Riverside co-captains, will see plenty of action in tonight's grid tilt. Halfback Leest was all-conference last year, and Tackle Holmes is a hard-hitting lineman.

Proving that gridiron fans like to see "smart football," Bill Henry, sports editor of the Los Angeles Times, one day this week printed three letters in his column complimenting the Dons on the razzle-dazzle football that they dish out to the customers in large quantities. Many of the other self-expressionists in Henry's column were disappointed with the games they see in the Los Angeles coliseum, not so with Santa Ana rooters, however.

El Don invited and sent tickets to Henry for tonight's game with Riverside so he could personally see the Red team in action. Anyhow, the comments:

"The team that plays the most open football is Santa Ana J. C. On one play against Glendale J. C., every man in the backfield handled the ball."—George O. Young.

Will Know For Sure Monday

"In all probability we will play Salinas J. C. here Friday, Nov. 19, on our remaining open date," Coach Bill Cook disclosed today. However, the Don grid mentor hastened to point out that this wouldn't be definite until Monday.

Cook plans to talk with Coach "Tex" Oliver of Arizona tomorrow about a game with the Arizona frosh. Oliver seems to be in favor of a contest on this date, but the other athletic heads of the desert state school are opposed.

Salinas jaysee is available on that date and Coach Ed Adams, former Don football star, has agreed to play if Arizona is unavailable, according to Director D. K. Hammond.

San Diego frosh was originally scheduled to meet Santa Ana, but unforeseen complications necessitated a change of program. The school is certain that one of the two teams will be here on that date, and preparations are well under way, Director Hammond added.

Citrus Here On Armistice Day

No armistice will be declared when Citrus Junior college's rejuvenated eleven comes to the Municipal bowl to battle Santa Ana's Dons on Armistice day, Thursday, Nov. 11. The game, slated to begin at 7:30 p.m., will feature two of the most bitter rivals of the Eastern conference.

The Citrus squad, which was almost disbanded this season because of lack of material, has only one conference victory to its credit. The Owls, with a roster of only 20 men, defeated a favored Chaffey eleven 6-0 early in the season.

In Ernie Poore, all-conference back, Coach Al Clayes has the player who might lead an inspired Owl eleven to an upset victory over the Dons. Poore is rated as one of the fastest and most powerful backs in the Eastern division.

DON GRID MENTOR

COACH BILL COOK, the "Little Napoleon of the Grid Wars," who is after his fourth Southern California football crown this season during eleven years of coaching at Santa Ana.

Cookmen Defeat Cossacks, 14-0

Ambushing the Pomona Cossacks from behind a dense blanket of fog which partially hid the players from the spectators, Santa Ana's Dons lateraled their way to a 14-0 victory on the loser's field last Friday night.

Bogged down the first half, the Dons' attack opened up in the third quarter, producing the first touchdown. After an exchange of punts, Santa Ana took possession of the ball and moved down the field to the 23 yard line. Here Oliver McCarter took the ball and on a cutback over his left tackle broke loose to the Pomona six yard marker. Les McLennan reached pay-dirt after two cracks at the line. Co-captain Erwin Youel converted.

Blas Mercurio made the final score when Larry Timken lateraled to him from the Cossack's 33. Mercurio converted.

Local Bowl Scene Of Clash Tonight

By TOM POWELL

Once again the conference lead, held jointly by the title-bound Dons and San Bernardino, is threatened—this time by the powerful Riverside Bengals who are making a desperate "last-ditch" stand tonight in an effort to blast Santa Ana's championship hopes and remain in the race for the Eastern division crown. Both squads open fire at 7:30 on the battle-ground of the Municipal bowl.

The Bengals are led tonight by Co-captain and all-conference Lloyd Leest, halfback, who can run, pass, and kick with the greatest of dexterity, and is labeled: "Extremely Dangerous." He is flanked by Martinsen, a deadly blocker, Fullback Alexander, and signal-barking Quarterback Morelock, all of whom are veterans.

TIGER LINE HEAVY

Don backs will find it tough going through the visitor's line, which averages 190 pounds per man. Pass-snagging Wells and Jordan will occupy end berths, with hard-hitting Co-captain Holmes and Gibson at tackle. Guard positions will be filled by Renfro and Huffman, with returning letterman Foss playing the pivot spot. Huffman and Foss, the smallest and tallest members on the team, play side by side. Huffman stands 5 feet, 3 inches, and Foss is 6 feet, 4 inches.

Display Flashlight Section Tonight

Tonight will mark the second appearance this year of the flashlight section. The idea, thought up by Warren Kennedy and developed by the men's service clubs, will be under the direction of Ralph Fuller at tonight's game.

Armistice night will probably be the last time to view the light section when the Citrus Owls meet the Dons here. Santa Ana Senior high school's band and drill team will also be present at the game next week to perform between halves.

Cossacks, Braves In Crucial Tilt

San Bernardino's powerful Indians meet a once-defeated Pomona Cossack squad tonight at San Bernardino. If the Indians can down the Red Raiders, they will continue in their top position with the Dons. But if Pomona can beat San Berdoo, the championship race will be wide open.

Chaffey's Panthers will defend their cellar title against a questionable Fullerton eleven on the Yellowjacket's gridiron. Fullerton has a win over Citrus to their credit while Chaffey has lost every game this season.

Citrus enjoys a bye before tying into the Dons on Armistice day.

In last week's games, Riverside overpowered Citrus, 20-0, while San Berdoo was steamrolling Chaffey, 36-7. In a non-conference battle, Taft subdued Fullerton, 19-0.

Jaysee Student Is Expert On Judo-Japan Wrestling Art

"Any person can easily throw a man much heavier than himself with a knowledge of judo, a Japanese wrestling sport," Joe Kobayashi, jaysee sophomore, explained today.

RESEMBLES WRESTLING

Judo is sometimes confused with the jujitsu, Kobayashi stated. Jujitsu comes from the Japanese word meaning to kill. It is an ancient type of defense wherein the persons involved are engaged in mortal combat. It is used by police in some of our largest cities.

Although related to jujitsu, judo is a sport, not a form of self-protection, that resembles wrestling. Instead of stressing physical harm, as is the case of jujitsu, it takes as its fundamental the outwitting of opponents. The idea of judo is to unbalance your opponent and throw him. This is accomplished by first tripping him and then using one of the many intricate holds that are included in the sport.

PERFECTED BY JAPS

Judo was perfected by a Japanese who is now 75 years old and lives in Japan. He received his idea from watching a cat landing after being tossed, noticing that the animal turned over before righting itself.

"That portion of judo is especially stressed," Kobayashi revealed. "While first learning judo, my instructor spent two months teaching me how to fall correctly."

The costume worn while participating in this sport consists of a pair of trousers that reach below the knees and a reinforced canvas jacket extending to between the hips and knees.

Other junior college students who have taken judo instruction are Fred Kobayashi, brother of Joe, and Isamu Masuda.

Dons Play Host At After-game Dance

With arrangements for an 11-piece orchestra completed, final plans for a dance following tonight's game have been completed, Elaine McReynolds, social commissioner, announced today.

Prices set by the executive board are 10 cents for Associated Students of Santa Ana jaysee and outsiders. Riverside collegians will be admitted free as guests of the local school.

The dance, which immediately follows the final gun, will be held in Andrews gym, Ross and Chestnut streets.

WE PRESENT HEREWITH . . .

for your approval, or disapproval, the first special sports edition of El Don, which the editors hope to make an annual part of the campus newspaper.

Much-appreciated cooperation from local advertisers has made the move possible. The circulation of this issue is one of the largest of the year. Free distribution to the general public attending the Santa Ana-Riverside gridiron classic is also an innovation of the move.

Comments and constructive criticism of the issue are welcome and invited by the editors. Write to El Don, Santa Ana Junior college, 917 North Main street, Santa Ana.

AGAIN WE REPEAT . . .

that truly deserving of a water wagon are our pigskin turfmen.

The desirability is not to be questioned nor should the price, for if it weren't for the receipts from football we would be pitifully poor financially.

Drinking from unclean milk bottles during non-action periods on the field is not the best we have to offer the team. A water wagon would provide clean, efficient service with less bother than the method now employed.

It could have a standard drinking fountain attachment as well as a spray to dowse hot, perspiry faces into. Made of steel, it would last for many seasons to come.

We suggest immediate action. This season is waning fast.

ADAM SMITH REPORTS . . .

that The Journal has discontinued its column "Shearing the Good Things of Life." Now if the Santa Ana Register would discontinue its column "Sharing the Comforts of Life," this would indeed be a better place in which to live—at least economically speaking, Smith says.

Dons, Bengals Play Tonight

week, the Bengals gave promise of making it tough for Davie Don tonight. Riverside has won five conference titles and two Southern Cal. championships since Jesse Mortensen has been directing the Tiger grid destinies. And unless the Dons upset their apple-cart, it may mean another crown for the orange and black clad boys.

BEALL, STANLEY PLAY

The Cook-Beatty aggregation will be at full strength at the kickoff for the first time in three weeks. Mac Beall, who was out last week with a bruised kidney, and Co-captain Ed Stanley, on the shelf for three weeks with a charley horse, are scheduled to start.

If the wide-open style of play used by the Dons fails to penetrate the Tiger defense, they can resort to power and expect to come out ahead. However, Ernest Butterworth, rugby mentor, has given the Dons a new weapon in the art of backward passing and the locals have already cashed in on its use.

McCARTER WILL START

Oliver McCarter and Les McLennan will start at quarter and full respectively, with Stanley and Beall or "Chuck" Mueller at half. Carl Lehnhardt, Blas Mercurio, and Larry Timken are sure to see action. The passing of McCarter and Beall, and the effective blocking of Stanley may be a deciding factor in the outcome of tonight's fray.

Occupying the airtight forward wall of the locals will be Co-captain Erwin Youel and Ted DeVelbiss, ends; Bob Faul and "Rusty" Roquet, tackles; Joe Crawford and Dick Tauber, guards; and Danny Boyd at center. Gil Nehrig, tackle, who was injured in the San Bernardino game, will be out of uniform for the rest of the season. John Joseph and Carroll Joy, ends; Pancho Forster and Virgil Stevens, tackles, and Elmer Casey, center will also be in the game.

The Bengals are also using "revenge" for an incentive in clawing the Dons tonight.

"I like Laguna Beach high and Santa Ana J. C."—Verner Rush.

Paul Wolven, of the cheer leader Wolvens, is once more back in school and will see action tonight helping Willie White with the yells. Wolven had a scrape with old man pneumonia and was out for several weeks. Glad to see you back and around, Paul!

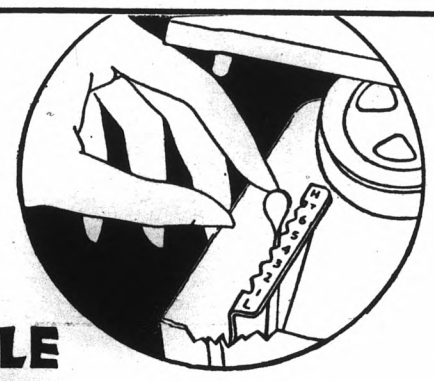

Turf tattle . . . From now on all night games will begin at 7:30, conference ruling, so better scribble it on your cuff . . . The Citrus game will be played Armistice night, not day, as was the popular opinion. . . . Already plans are being made to double, yea triple, the police guard at the Fullerton game here Thanksgiving afternoon. . . In a new football serial beginning in the Satevepost this week, the hero's name is, imagine, Larry Todd. . . The payoff!

If, and a big IF, Santa Ana wins the rest of its games and has to meet San Bernardino again (remember?), the contest will be played on a neutral field. As there is no stadium in the conference big enough to accomodate the mob, which would be tremendous, why not play it in the Rose bowl? Pasadena is an equal distance from the two towns and would draw the Los Angeles crowd, too. Worth thinking about!

Girls' Playday To Be Held Nov. 20

Santa Ana Junior college will be hostess at the annual basketball and tennis playday, which will be held in the Santa Ana high school gym and on the high school tennis courts, Saturday morning, Nov. 20, Miss Zena Leck, girls' physical education instructor announced today.

Girls from Long Beach, Compton, and Fullerton jaysees will participate in the games. After the games luncheon will be served in the Y.W.C.A.

Nine local delegates are representing jaysee today and tomorrow at the University of Redlands to confer on international problems. Other colleges and universities of the southwest are also represented at the two-day conference.

The local delegation, composed of the membership of the International Relations club, includes L. L. Beeman, adviser, Dr. John Brown Mason, Caroline Davis, Roy Potter, Fred Newcomb, Mary Henderson, Ruth Budd, Lois Oursler and Lloyd Barnes.

Subjects to be discussed are: "The Present Conflict in Spain," "Dictatorship vs. Democracy," "Japanese Action and Policy in Asia," and "The Westesn Hemisphere." Election of officers is scheduled preceding luncheon tomorrow.

Templeton, Casey Tied In Scores

Bob Templeton, flashy San Bernardino back who smashed over four touchdowns against Chaffey last week, was tied for Eastern division individual scoring honors today with Johnny Casey, Pomona all-conference fullback, who was held to a standstill when Santa Ana's Dons blanked Pomona. Both Templeton and Casey have scored four touchdowns in league games.

Ernie Poore of Citrus holds second spot in the scoring race with three touchdowns, while Blas Mercurio, Don quarterback, is third with two touchdowns and one conversion.
